Appendix B: Statutory Requirements and Relating Base Survey Questions46

On August 6, 2021, a bill written by students and supported by survivor advocates in Illinois was signed into law by amending the Preventing Sexual Violence in Higher Education Act. This new law, Public Act 102-0325 (110 ILCS 155/35), mandates that all institutions of higher education annually conduct an anonymous campus sexual misconduct climate survey to assess students' experiences, outcomes regarding their experiences, and perceptions of sexual violence and collegiate culture. The law also called for the creation of a Task Force on Sexual Misconduct on Campus Climate Surveys to develop and refine over time the base survey that institutions will administer and to develop implementation guidance. The Task Force's membership is composed of 24 individuals from various stakeholder positions and areas of expertise including members of the General Assembly, the Attorney General, the Director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, college and university representatives, sexual assault survivors and other advocacy group members, legal services representatives, researchers, and students. The IBHE Executive Director or designee serves as chairperson of the Task Force with IBHE staff providing administrative support.

The Task force was charged with creating a "base survey", which can be found beginning on page 12. The base survey questions focus on 13 areas outlined in statute. To summarize, the survey will focus on the following topics which are further elaborated in the legislation:

- The number, type, and location of reported and unreported incidents of sexual misconduct;
- Student awareness of institutions' sexual misconduct policies and procedures;
- Whether the student was referred to victim support services and provided information on his/her/their rights;
- Student demographic information such as race/ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, disability status, and immigration status that could be used to identify at-risk groups;
- The perceptions of campus safety and confidence in the higher education institution's ability to protect students against sexual misconduct; and
- Contextual factors of the sexual misconduct incident and any student outcomes, such as withdrawing from classes or being placed on academic probation.

The statute charged The Task Force not only with developing the base survey, but also implementation recommendations relating to timing, content, and application of the survey. This information can be found in the Implementation Plan beginning on page 43.

Higher education institutions are allowed to add their own campus-specific questions to the base survey and may modify any question that includes the phrase [MODIFIABLE BY INSTITUTION]. However, such additional questions cannot be unnecessarily retraumatizing to students who have experienced sexual violence or require the sharing of personally identifiable information. Within 120 days after completion of a sexual misconduct climate survey, institutions of higher education must submit a summary of the survey results to IBHE as well as post the same summary on the institution's website in a way that is easily accessible.

After the survey has been administered twice and four times, the statute requires that the Task Force reconvene to review the survey results and make necessary changes. The Task Force will be disbanded after its second re-convening.

The Task Force began by creating a foundation of six Guiding Principles that were used to guide its work. These are:

1. The dual purpose of the Campus Sexual Misconduct Climate Survey is to hold institutions accountable for the impact of their campus climates on student safety, wellness, and retention; and to ensure public access to accurate data on reports of sexual misconduct at institutions of higher education.
2. The instructions and content of the survey instrument will use intentional, direct, and inclusive language designed to understand students' experiences of sexual misconduct and the impact of those experiences, and students' knowledge of and access to campus resources.
3. The survey will be optional, anonymous, accessible to respondents with different identities and abilities, trauma informed, and to the greatest extent possible, not trauma inducing.
4. The survey instrument will be constructed and tested for statistical reliability and validity and allow for customization to reflect institutional individuality, while simultaneously ensuring that implementation is consistent across institutions and adheres to ethical principles for research on human subjects.
5. The survey will be concise and focused on producing actionable, easy-to-understand results that inform institutional practices and policies to improve responses to and prevent future incidences of sexual misconduct on campuses.
6. The implementation plan will include clear and specific instructions for institutions on administration of the survey, data collection, and reporting; and will allow the survey to be easy to administer for smaller, lower-resourced institutions.

Public Act 102-0325 went into effect in August 2021; however, final appointments to the Task Force were not made until Summer 2022. Subsequently, the General Assembly amended the law to give the Task Force another year to complete its work with a final deadline of July 31, 2023. The Task Force held its first meeting on September 7, 2022, with eight subsequent meetings throughout 2022 and 2023 (See Appendix A for specific dates). Each meeting was organized by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) staff, held virtually with the length of each meeting ranging from 1 ½ to 2 hours, and video recorded. All Task Force documents, and video recordings can be found on IBHE's website.

The Task Force spent several meetings (October 5, November 2, and March 8) gathering information on other states with similar surveys, learning survey construction and design, and hearing testimony and asking questions of sexual misconduct survey providers AAU and ARC3.

In December 2022, IBHE staff created an institutional preparedness survey that was sent to all higher education institutions in this state. The institutional preparedness survey's intent was to determine the capacity of different types of institutions of higher education to implement a sexual misconduct survey. The survey found that roughly half the respondents felt their institution had the staff capacity to conduct a sexual misconduct climate survey while about 75% of respondents said they had the technological capability. Additionally, 97% of institutional responses indicated an interest in an optional state-wide coordinated effort to field the survey. The most common concerns for institutions cited on the survey were the survey frequency, survey fatigue among students, and low response rates. Results of this survey were provided to Task Force members before the January 11, 2023, meeting, which was spent on discussion of the results. After reviewing the presentations from AAU and ARC3 and the results of IBHE's institutional preparedness survey, the Task Force determined an already designed survey would not meet the requirements of Illinois law or the needs of its students.

IBHE staff members worked between meetings with groups of Task Force members who volunteered to serve on one of the following working groups: Incentive and Implementation or Survey Building. The Incentive and Implementation Working Group members were provided a draft implementation plan created by IBHE staff based on reports from similar task forces in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, as well as an ARC3 Campus Climate Tip Sheet.¹ Several Incentive and Implementation Working Group meetings were held to discuss and revise the Implementation Plan (see below starting on page 43). The full Task Force received a draft of the Implementation Plan in March 2023 and was given time to provide written feedback. IBHE staff revised the Implementation Plan based on this feedback and the entire Task Force reviewed and discussed the Implementation Plan at the May 3, 2023, Task Force meeting.

Members of the Survey Building Working Group were provided documents listing the statutory requirements for the base survey in P.A. 102-0325 and questions from the open-source example surveys the Task Force discussed (AAU, ARC3, and Northern Illinois University). The Survey Building Working Group members were assigned specific survey requirements outlined in the statute to develop by either designing new questions or choosing questions from example surveys. Each chosen or member-written question for the base survey was reviewed and discussed at two separate working group meetings in order to maximize participation.

A draft of the base survey was provided to all Task Force members before the May 3, 2023, meeting with a request for members to provide written feedback. The base survey was revised in May and provided again for the review of the entire Task Force before the June 7, 2023, Task Force meeting. Revisions were suggested during and after the June 7, 2023, Task Force meeting that required the Survey Building Working Group to reconvene and make changes before the Task Force Report could be released for public comment. Subsequently, the IBHE posted the Task Force Report to its website for a public comment period from June 20, 2023, through June 30, 2023. IBHE received 27 public comments on the Task Force Report, almost all focusing on the base survey and/or the implementation plan.

¹ Administrator Researcher Campus Climate Collaborative (ARC3), "Tip Sheets: Recruitment, Incentives, Diversity and Representativeness, and Sample Size," provided by Kevin Swartout, Professor of Psychology and Public Health, Georgia State University, June 21, 2022.

The Task Force reconvened July 12, 2023, to discuss the public comments received. Each member received a copy of the public comments in advance of the meeting. Task Force members discussed the public comments and necessary changes. The Survey Building Working Group met twice in July to discuss suggested changes to the base survey. IBHE planned a final Task Force Meeting for July 25, 2023, but not enough members attended to reach a quorum. Members were asked to send final changes and comments by July 28, 2023.

In addition to the recommendations for institutions found beginning on page 43 of this document, the Task Force makes the following recommendations to the Illinois Board of Higher Education:

1. The Task Force wants all students to have equal opportunity to complete the survey. Since not all institutions of higher education have the same capabilities or capacity, the Task Force recommends that the state fund an opt-in, coordinated effort for administration of the survey. A third-party organization would deliver the survey, which will maximize flexibility for institutions, provide advice on the institution's recruitment and incentive (if any) plan, and assist in analysis of survey results. Though a fee for institutions may be necessary, the Task Force recommends that IBHE include funding for this initiative in its Fiscal Year 2025 budget recommendations in order to guarantee equal access to Illinois higher education students.
2. When the federal government releases a sexual misconduct climate survey for colleges and universities, the Task Force recommends merging the Illinois and federal survey. If necessary, the Task Force recommends IBHE reconvene the Task Force prior to its scheduled convening, to address any issues that arise.
3. IBHE should provide all institutions with the base survey (page 12) and implementation plan (page 43) for use in conducting the annual sexual misconduct climate survey, as required by the law, with the instruction that institutions should add institution-specific information and be allowed to make question modifications where noted in the base survey.
4. The Task Force recommends IBHE create guidance on analysis and reporting requirements for institutions to be released before the first administration of the base survey.
5. The Task Force acknowledges receipt of public comments noting the lack of community college involvement in the Task Force. While the statute designates a representative from the Illinois Community College Board (ICCB) and a student attending a community college in Illinois as Task Force members, the Task Force recommends IBHE, in collaboration with ICCB, pursue approaches to increase community college involvement when the Task Force reconvenes.

The Task Force received feedback during the public comment period that asked for clarification, guidance, or instruction on several aspects of the base survey. We attempt to provide this by topic below.

- Explanation of Formatting Choices:

Throughout the base survey you will see several formatting choices used to convey meaning to institutions. In the base survey, brackets are used to convey (1) an instruction to the institution and/or (2) that this is information that the institution can fill in with appropriate information. For example, when [INSTITUTION] is used in the base survey, the Task Force's intention is for the school to insert its name at this point.

Definitions of terms are included in brackets at the beginning of each section. Unless otherwise specified in the base survey, the wording of these definitions is not modifiable by the institution.

The base survey utilizes skip logic to minimize the number of questions students will see that do not apply to them. All skip logic instructions will have arrows (➡) at the beginning and ending of the direction. These instructions are meant for the survey administrators and are not meant to be seen by the students.

Footnote citations are used throughout the base survey to indicate information about the development of the question, including which example survey (ARC3, AAU, or NIU) the question was taken from and whether the Task Force members made modifications to the original question. An institution should not include these citations in its survey.

- Modifiable by Institution Guidelines

Questions that have the phrase “[MODIFIABLE BY INSTITUTE]” are the only questions on the base survey that can be changed by the institution. All other questions must be given to students exactly as they appear in this document; however, institutions are allowed to add questions to the survey document if they so choose. Parts of the question or answer choices that can be modified vary based on the question. See below for specific instructions:

- Questions 4, 5, 7, and 9 – The question must remain the same, but the answers can be revised by the institution.
- Question 18 – The institution may only modify the examples in the answer options.
- Questions 87 and 88 – Institutions may modify the answer choices as needed, but not the question.

- Guidance on Who Qualifies as A Student:

- The base survey was not intended to be administered to students under 18-years of age, though the Task Force does acknowledge that minors experience sexual misconduct. The survey should not be administered to students under the age of 18, including dual-credit students.
- Unless there are domestic or international laws forbidding the administration of the survey, such students should be allowed to participate in the survey. This includes international students who are taking courses fully online, as well as study abroad students.
- All students at least 18 years old should be given the option to complete the survey; however this does not include high school students taking dual-credit courses. This does include:
 - i. Full-time and part-time students. Part-time students include students who are only taking one course.
 - ii. Students of all levels – certificate, undergraduate, graduate, or professional, etc.
 - iii. Students who have taken a leave of absence or withdrawn from the institution.

- Optional Section and Question:

The Task Force determined that Section V on Consent is optional. Institutions of Higher Education may remove this section if they so choose. For institutions that choose to include Section V, institutions should include it where it is in the base survey in this document.

The Task Force recommends that 4-year colleges and universities consider adding a question to determine whether the student is an undergraduate, graduate, or professional student to Section II on Demographics.

- Institutional Review Board (IRB) Clarification

The intention of the administration of the base survey is for the evaluation of interventions and services to students. The Task Force understands that not all institutions will have access to an Institutional Review Board (IRB). The Task Force also understands that campus climate surveys may fall under an exemption for review, the Task Force acknowledges that IRB decisions must be made on an institution-by-institution basis. The Task Force notes that IRBs can help ensure the safety and wellbeing of participants and provide a review of practices associated with the survey (e.g. participant recruitment, incentives, etc.).

- Survey Fraud Notice

The Task Force would like to make institutions aware that survey fraud does take place and recommends that institutions be aware of this issue when considering a survey tool to use to administer the base survey and remain vigilant in reviewing for such activity.

Task Force on Campus Sexual Misconduct Climate Surveys Base Survey Recommendations

I. INTRODUCTION

The Sexual Misconduct Campus Climate Survey is being conducted by [INSTITUTION]. The purpose of the study is to provide information about the behaviors and perceptions that current students have related to [INSTITUTION]. You will be asked to complete a questionnaire concerning: relationships, sexual experiences, experiences with dating violence, and perceptions about safety at [INSTITUTION] during the last 12 months. The questionnaire should take approximately 15-20 minutes to complete. All of the information provided in the questionnaire will be anonymous.

[INSERT ANY INCENTIVES HERE. EX: At the end of the questionnaire you will have the opportunity to register for a drawing to win one of fifty red and black winter pom hat's with the NIU logo and statement, "Conversations that Matter". Also, describe what the student will have to do to obtain the incentive (e.g., go to a location to pick up a hat, provide an email address, etc.) and whether any identifying information will be linked to their individual survey data.]

Illinois law (110 ILCS 155/35) requires [INSTITUTION] to conduct the Sexual Misconduct Campus Climate Survey annually; however, your participation is voluntary and may be withdrawn at any time without penalty or prejudice, and if you have any additional questions concerning this survey, you may contact [INSTITUTIONAL CONTACT]. You are not required to answer any questions in the survey and you can choose to skip a question or select a "prefer not to respond" option.

Potential risks and/or discomforts you could experience during this study include upsetting or distressing thoughts or feelings when answering questions related to sexual assault victimization and potential traumatic life events. If you feel upset during or after the study, you can contact [INSERT INSTITUTIONAL SPECIFIC INFORMATION. EX: Safe Passage at (815) 756-5228 or their Crisis Text line at 815-393-1995. They are available 24 hours a day. Be sure to specify for each resource listed, whether it is a confidential resource, or if disclosing to them will trigger a Title IX report to the institution.] In addition, if you feel these topics will cause a trigger of a past negative situation, do not take the survey. The survey is not meant to cause anyone significant distress.

If you wish to report an instance of sexual or gender harassment, dating or domestic violence, sexual assault/violence, or stalking contact [INSTITUTIONAL CONTACT INFORMATION]. If you would like to talk to a confidential advisor about your experience contact [INSTITUTIONAL CONTACT INFORMATION].

The Sexual Misconduct Campus Climate Survey is an important tool [INSTITUTION] uses for understanding and addressing our [INSTITUTION] with regard to sexual harassment and sexual misconduct. Student participation in the survey will help us to be more aware of the issues we need to address, and will help us craft the tools needed to address them. Your responses will be confidential. Your responses will be combined with those of other students and reported in summary form only. By clicking on the button below, you are stating that you have read the information above in its entirety and understand the purpose of this survey.²

GENERAL APPROACH

1. To ensure full discussion, the Task Force weighed the benefits and drawbacks of conducting the survey with representative samples of an institution's student body versus conducting the survey with the entire student body. The Task Force concluded that institutions must give all students the opportunity to complete the survey while focusing special attention and outreach efforts to hard-to-reach populations, which are different for every institution, and should be found by utilizing the institution's student body demographics (as discussed below in Diversity-Specific Recommendations section).
2. The Task Force recommends that institutions have a plan to serve participants who are in need of immediate confidential support due to the content of the survey. For example, institutions could provide information for a national hotline, local services, or a confidential resource, such as Sexual Harassment Resource Officer or the campus Confidential Advisor.
3. Consistent with the statutory mandate located in 110 ILCS 155/35(b), the Task Force recommends that institutions complete the sexual misconduct climate survey annually until the federal survey is released (as noted in recommendation #4).
4. The Task Force acknowledges receipt of public comments expressing concern about the annual administration of the base survey. The Task Force also recognizes that, while it may be burdensome for institutions with differing sizes and resources, some students may not receive the opportunity to complete the base survey if it was not required to be administered annually. The Task Force recommends that the annual requirement be reviewed when the Task Force reconvenes in two years. At that time, the Task Force should consider the data received from institutions after two administrations of the base survey, including an assessment of response rates, student feedback, and implementation barriers and strategies.
5. Research suggests that the optimal time for such surveys would be during the Spring semester. The Task Force recommends that institutions should field the survey at a consistent time each year.
6. Institutions should consider how the campus sexual misconduct climate survey fits with the campus climate survey in the equity plans that are required for public institutions and recommended for private institutions (110 ILCS 205/9.16). Further, information on this can be found in the higher education strategic plan, A Thriving Illinois: Higher Education Paths to Equity, Sustainability, and Growth.
7. Because language can serve as a barrier for those who do not speak English as their primary language in understanding and completing the survey, the Task Force recommends institutions explore the feasibility of translating the survey and example recruitment materials to other languages above and beyond English.
8. The Task Force recommends that students with accessibility needs are provided appropriate services as determined by the institution. When implementing the survey, the institution should examine its software tools and choose an appropriate theme for maximum accessibility.

Student Recruitment/Outreach

The Task Force recommends that institutions consider using the following measures to increase response rates, help ensure that the data adequately captures their student body, and is useful for informing policy and practice:

- Using active recruitment methods, including direct personal contact by email and mail, using listservs to recruit a diverse array of students, and face-to-face invitations and reminders.
- Engaging with appropriate stakeholders to help recruit students to take the survey. Such individuals include residence hall directors, academic departments, athletic coaches, life skills coordinators, professors, Title IX staff, wellness and counseling staff, student government, panhellenic councils, cultural and equity centers, and peer support students.
- Utilizing passive recruitment methods such as flyers and posters in high-traffic areas of campus. Institutions should consider using social media such as Facebook, Instagram, and Snapchat as a survey publicity and recruitment tool.
- Contacting students at least 3 to 5 days before the survey launches to let them know what the survey is and when it will happen. Institutions should consider providing a content warning at this time.

- Addressing the invitation to complete the survey to each student. Response rates increase when the survey invite is addressed directly to the prospective respondent. Also, let students know what impact their participation will have, both on a personal and institutional level.
- Providing and advertising incentives for completing the survey. Incentives are discussed further in the next section of this document.
- Making clear to students the value of completing the survey and what impact their participation will have to their campus. For example, explain how results will be used or what programs or events will be informed by the results. Providing a link to a webpage that houses all the possible resources available to students in the beginning of the survey and at the end.

Incentives

- Host a table and other marketing events to encourage students to complete the survey and have incentives at the location to be given out upon completion.
- Use pre-paid incentives where possible. ARC3 and NH suggest $2 to $5 pre-paid incentives and that larger amounts ($10+) do not increase response rates. Massachusetts' Task Force report cited a study that suggested $25 produced higher participation, but increasing above that amount did not increase participation. Prepaid incentives could be for coffee shop, bookstore, or other on-campus locations. Create a drawing for prizes. Before deciding on items for the drawing, seek input from different student groups on what would most appeal. Often, a few big-ticket items will appeal to students more than several small items.
- Use in-kind incentives, such as housing lottery, or parking places.
- Allow pre-paid incentives to be redeemed at campus locations that are considered safe places for diverse student populations.
- Institutions should make sure that confidentiality is maintained when the student registers for any offered incentive. In particular, institutions should avoid collecting students' names to provide incentives. Any identifying information (e.g., names, contact information, etc.) collected for the purposes of sending a gift card should be linked to a separate survey. That way their identifying information is not directly linked to their individual data.

Diversity-Specific Recommendations

- Institutions will need to make sure the survey is representative of the student population make-up in order to arrive at valid conclusions. The institution should obtain and use student body demographic information to help with this.
- Institutions should develop advertisements that appeal to different student groups including individual and overlapping groups that are most impacted by sexual assault (women and girls, BIPOC communities, people with disabilities, people with varied immigration statuses, people with low income, and the LGBTQIA+ community) and groups that are known to be reluctant to complete campus surveys (men).
- Institutions should consider using digital or online survey tools with accessibility features for different student needs.
- Ensure that cultural and LGBTQIA+ student advisors and leaders know about the survey. Encourage them to consider either hosting a discussion on the survey or promoting the survey in order to ensure that these populations are represented in the survey results.
